

6. Description Methods. Write down and define each description method, then make up your own real world examples of each, and finally list how each method is positive and negative for psychological research.

Description method AND definition	Real world example	Positives	Negatives

7. How can wording affect a survey?

8. What are the best possible ways to gather random samples of populations for surveys? Why?